

To everybody at Barnies...

Thank you for looking after my wellies, for letting us play in the garden all of the time ($\times 2$ because there are 2 gardens actually). Thank you for having lots and lots and lots of toys outside and even more things inside. Thank you for getting new badminton and for making food for us - (breakfast, snack, lunch, milkshake - or water if you don't like milkshake, and tea). Thank you for making a nice road in the garden and thank you for sweeping things and for having the under-two room where babies can play.

I've learned to sleep in my own bed and that you can't have things out when the babies are where the big boys play (and the big girls). I also know not to bring balls inside to play because there's lots and lots of wood in there which will fall on you and you'll get lots and lots of splinters. I've learned that you can't bring any bikes inside because sometimes you might bang the bikes into things and they might break.
